

WOMEN'S CLUB DISCUSSES MUSIC AND RECOMMENDS GRAPHOPHONES IN HOMES

Use the graphophone in the home to educate the children, is the advice of the Women's club of El Paso, as given through Mrs. W. R. Brown, its delegate to the recent state federation meeting in the assembly hall of the Paso del Norte hotel, which was crowded with members and friends. An excellent program of music of the seventeenth century was given under the direction of Mrs. Bertha Congdon Stough. The meeting was opened by the chairman, Mrs. Parvyn Witte, and a short business session was held.

Mrs. A. R. A. Yerville, the president, announced a directors' meeting to be held immediately after the musical program.

Mrs. W. R. Brown, delegate of the music department of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, held at Fort Worth, Texas, gave a special report of that convention. Mrs. Brown said on the last day of the convention resolutions were made by the federated clubs which were to encourage music in the public schools; to give musical recitals in the jails and asylums and to offer scholarships of music by musicians of the different cities to encourage musical talent. Mrs. Brown spoke of the necessity of free concerts and urged the use of graphophones in the home to cultivate a musical atmosphere among the children.

Mrs. E. Kohlberg spoke of the scholarship offered by Francis Moore, of El Paso, through his sister, Mrs. W. R. Brown. The program then followed, the musical numbers being illustrative of the seventeenth century.

Mrs. A. F. Slayers gave an interesting talk on seventeenth century music. She said in that century the construction of musical instruments was progressive. The organ and violin were being perfected and musicians were appearing to play upon them. She also said that Henry Purcell was the greatest writer of the century.

The second number on the program was a quartet with an (a) and (b) number. "Fanny the Lion's My Soul" by Dr. W. Childs, and "It Was a Lover and His Lass" by T. Moorley, sung by Messdames W. W. Evans and W. D. Howe, and F. G. Billings and Dr. George Brunner.

3. Piano, "Cannonetta" by Dietrich Dantelshude, played by Edwin C. Knickmeyer.

4. Vocal, "O cessate di Pigiarmi," by A. Scarlatti, sung by Miss Alicia O'Neill.

5. Piano, "Pavane," by A. Scarlatti, played by Miss Henrietta Buckler.

6. Vocal, "Alli, redimi, by Rossi, sung by Mrs. W. W. Evans.

7. Piano, Andantino, allegro, by Rossi, played by Mrs. Francis L. Moore.

8. (a) "T. Attempt from Love's Sick-bed to Fly"; (b) "Nymphs and Shepherds," by Henry Purcell, sung by Miss Bertha Stough.

9. Piano, "Sarabande," "Chaconne," by Louis Comperin, played by E. Knickmeyer.

The accompanist for the afternoon was Mrs. J. J. Pearce. Mrs. Adine Owen and Edwin C. Knickmeyer.

A directors' meeting was held directly after the program, and Mrs. W. L. Tooley was taken into full membership of the club. Courtesies were extended to Mrs. Harry C. Greer.

Combination Of White Material

White crepe de chene forms the greater part of the blouse and in contrast with it the satin used for the collar and shaped trimming bands seems to have high lustre.

The tucked net chemise and the pleated lace frill are also white, and ivory buttons are used on the satin band. A tiny bow and buttons of black velvet ornament the chemise.

Every spoonful does its work perfectly—no failures—no waste.

Buy a Can from your grocer today and watch your baking troubles disappear. If you don't get Calumet, you don't get the best.

You don't save money when you buy cheap or big-can baking powder. Don't be misled. Buy Calumet. It's more economical—more wholesome—gives best results. Calumet is far superior to sour milk and soda.

Every Day Helps to Beauty

(From the Toilette Guide.)

To remove superfluous hair on face or forearms, make a paste with a little powdered salicylic acid and water. Cover the hair with the paste and let it dry. Then wash the skin and the hairs will be gone. This treatment is less expensive than electrolysis and is just as satisfactory in results.

No woman looks her best when suffering from itchy skin. Mother's Salve is penetrating, entering the pores at once and giving almost instant relief. It is comforting and soothing to pains and aches in back or joints, sore muscles, bruises, rheumatism or neuralgia.

The beautiful complexion of girlhood can be retained, or restored, if "Mother's Salve" is used with an original package of thereof. Sprinkle a little on the face, brush out thoroughly and it will keep it all dust, excess oil and dandruff. Thorough makes the hair fluffy and healthy.

If the eyebrows are lighter in color than the hair, or thin and straggly, they can be improved by an occasional application of the salve. It will make the hair long and evenly—Advertisement.
